

CALL FOR PAPERS

Open Call for Papers

The European Journal of Policing Studies has relaunched! As before, EJPS wants to publish high-quality papers that provide insights into contemporary discussions on policing in or related to (continental) Europe. It focuses on issues that are of interest to the police and other actors in policing, and that may shape (the future of) policing. EJPS aims to offer authors ample room to present their (empirical) research results. Furthermore, EJPS also aims to publish special issues, focusing on specific topics or themes that are relevant for both policy and practice of (public and private) policing.

We are looking for new and cutting-edge contributions on police and policing research and would therefore like to invite authors to contribute to our journal. The editorial team also welcomes proposals for special issues.

If you have any questions or for special issue proposals you can of course contact us at eleveneips@gmail.com.

Articles can be submitted at <https://www.editorialmanager.com/eleveneips/default2.aspx>.

Please review the authors guidelines: https://assets.budh.nl/tijdschriften/ejps/EJPS_Stylesheet.pdf.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Prof. dr. Antoinette Verhage and Prof. dr. Jan Terpstra, editors
Yinthe Feys and dr. Courtney Marsh-Rosseel, assistant editors